YOUR RIGHTS

Before answering any questions you must understand what rights are guaranteed to you by the Constitution of the United States. You may refuse to answer any questions for anything that you say may be used for or against you in the event that this case should come to trial. You have the right to have an attorney present before and during the time of questioning. If you cannot afford the services of an attorney, an attorney must be provided for you. If you desire an attorney there can be no questioning until the attorney is present. If you do consent to answer any questions without the presence of an attorney, you have the right to refuse or to stop answering at any time until you can consult with an attorney.

WAIVER

I have read, or have had read to me, the statement of rights as shown above. I fully understand what these rights are. I know that I do not have to make a statement, or answer any questions and that anything I may say can be used for or against me in the event that this case should come to trial. I know that I may have the services of an attorney at this time if I so desire.

No threats or promises have been made to me in any manner whatsoever.

I can read and write English, or understand English if this statement of rights was read to me and make this statement of my own free will.
